What is Copy Trading?

Copy trading is a method that allows investors to automatically copy the trading strategies of other traders, known as Providers.

- Automated Copying: No manual operation required, the system executes trades automatically.
- Follow Experienced Traders: Learn and copy the strategies of successful traders.
- Easy to Get Started: Lowers the barrier to entry, making it suitable for beginners.

Five-Dimensional Chart for Signal Selection

- Profit Rate: The profit rate shown here is the historical profit rate of the provider. Higher value indicates better performance.
- Maximum Drawdown Rate: Measures the Provider's risk control capability. The lower the maximum drawdown rate, the smaller the risk.
- Sharpe Ratio: This value helps to determine how much return an investor would gain per unit of risk.
- Standard Deviation: Represents the volatility of the Provider's profit. The lower the standard deviation, the more stable the profit rate and a lower risk.
- Profit Factor: Indicates the profitability of the Strategy. The higher the profit factor, the stronger the Strategy profitability.
