

Copy Trading User Guide

Welcome to our Copy Trading user guide. Whether you are a Provider or a Follower, this guide will help you quickly understand the essentials.

What is Copy Trading?

Copy trading is a method that allows investors to automatically copy the trading strategies of other traders, known as Providers.

- Automated Copying: No manual operation required, the system executes trades automatically.
- Follow Experienced Traders: Learn and copy the strategies of successful traders.
- Easy to Get Started: Lowers the barrier to entry, making it suitable for beginners.

Five-Dimensional Chart for Signal Selection

- Profit Rate: The profit rate shown here is the historical profit rate of the provider. Higher value indicates better performance.
- Maximum Drawdown Rate: Measures the Provider's risk control capability. The lower the maximum drawdown rate, the smaller the risk.
- Sharpe Ratio: This value helps to determine how much return an investor would gain per unit of risk.
- Standard Deviation: Represents the volatility of the Provider's profit. The lower the standard deviation, the more stable the profit rate and a lower risk.
- Profit Factor: Indicates the profitability of the Strategy. The higher the profit factor, the stronger the Strategy profitability.

Provider Smart Search

Use Smart Search to filter the providers by entering the relevant parameters and choose the provider you would like to copy.

The screenshot displays the EBC Copy Trading interface. On the left is a sidebar with navigation options: Home Page, Fund Management, Trading Software, My Account, Service & Support, Copy Trading (highlighted), Referral Programme, and Trading Challenge. The main content area is titled 'Copy Trading > Providers'. At the top, there are tabs for 'Providers', 'My Provider', 'MySubscription', and 'Trade & Earn Rewards'. Below these are filter buttons for 'Profit Rate', 'Sharpe ratio', 'Standard Deviation', and 'Profit Factor'. A search bar with the placeholder 'Please enter your nickname' and a 'Search' button is present. A 'Smart Search' button is highlighted with a red box and a cursor. The page shows a grid of provider profiles, each with a 'Copy Now' button. The providers listed are Tim007, Edison666, Lost7297, kikiwillwin, firefly, and Wen346. Each profile includes a radar chart showing performance metrics (Profit Rate, Max Drawdown, Standard Deviation, Sharpe ratio, Profit Factor) and a 'Daily Profit Curve' line chart.

Provider	Followers	Total Fund	Profit Rate
Tim007	0	0.00	+600.00%
Edison666	0	0.00	+423.08%

Strategy Options

Autoscale
 Copied volume = Fund Ratio * Volume Multiplier
 For example: If Provider's balance is $2000, follower's balance is $1000, Volume Multiplier is 3, and the Provider's trade volume is 1 lot
 Then the follower's trading volume is calculated as (1000 (follower's account balance) / 2000 (provider's balance)) * 3 (volume multiplier) * 1 (provider's trade volume) = 1.5. Therefore, if the provider trades 1 lot, the follower account will 'copy' a trade volume of 1.5 lots

Multiply
 Copied trading volume = provider trading volume * Volume Multiplier
 For example: With a volume multiplier of 0.2, if the Provider trades 2 lots, the follower will copy 0.4 lots (2 lots * 0.2 volume multiplier)

Fixed Volume
 Copies' volumes = Volume Multiplier
 For example: With a Volume Multiplier of 0.5, each trade in the follower's account will be 0.5 lots
